Sierra Completes Chinese Drywall Remediation!

Paul J. Sierra Construction, Inc. recently completed a Chinese drywall remediation project at a private residence! The New Port Richey home was built in 2008, unknowingly, with Chinese drywall. Over time, the defective drywall caused the corrosion of HVAC, electrical and plumbing components in the house, as well as a foul odor. We performed a complete Chinese drywall remediation. This included stripping the home of all drywall, insulation and damaged components. The house was then HEPA vacuumed, air-scrubbed, and micro-cleaned, before applying a surface solution. After the clearance inspection certificate was obtained, the build-back began! Lastly, new documented drywall was installed, the house was put back together and a 10-year warranty was issued. Good as new!
